THE WEEKLY REPUBLICAN, with its full amount of interesting reading matter, will be issued to-day. Copies in wrappers ready for mailing may be had at the business office.

THE REPUBLICAN will be issued as usual in double-sheet form on Saturday, and will be up to its regular high standard in respect to local and political gossip, personal intelligence, fushion and stage the districts of the South are no longer a notes, and book reviews.

The position of the Administration on the Clayton-Bulwer treaty-treating it as having ceased to have any binding effect on the subject of English intervention in Central America-is being highly praised by the leading journals of the country.

But this time it won't be so difficult for Republicans to find the ballot-box.

Ir is considered certain that California will give us a gain of two Congressmen and Nevada one. We shall gain one in Maine. New York, Pennsylvania, and the Northwest will more than hold their own. The upheaval at the South bids fair to create a stampede that may give us a gain of thirty members. The Bourbons in that section see the handwriting on the wall. So long as votes were not required they could easily manufacture members.

AND now, after the Democrats of the House have had a week to reflect on the subject, it has suddenly broke upon their minds that if they had stood up to Mr. Finley they could have retained him in his seat. It took one hundred and fortyseven votes to make a majority, and the Republicans gave Bisbee but one hundred and forty-one. Nine Independents and Readjusters voted for Finley, but the Democrats stood by with mulish heroism and saw their friend "sacrificed," as they call it, and now they are whining like spanked babies because Finley is turned out. It is in order for Mr. Finley to apimagine his enthusiasm over their treatment will not exceed that of General

The Pennsylvania situation is better for the a splendid majority.

The Contested Election Cases, The House of Representatives has made a good beginning in the contested cases. The tardiness of the action-nearly six months of the session having passed away before the unscating of the first four of the Bourbon usurpers-was partly owing to the sense of doubt whether any remedy could be found for the threatened filibustering tactics of the opposition. The Committee on Elections had a vast amount of work to do in considering the voluminous testimony, and in listening to the arguments of the parties and their counsel. But at last, the reports in some cases being ready, the majority resolutely broke through the technical cobwebs with which the minority vainly supposed it was bound, and the House proceeded to exercise its power to first make rules, and then, under the rules, to judge of the election, qualification, and return of its own members.
Lynch, Mackey, Bisbee, and Lowe have been admitted to the seats which their constituents had a right to expect would have been occupied by them months ago.
Too much praise cannot be given the Committee on Elections for their able reports and the masterly presentation of the cases on the floor. Chairman Calkins made a splendid exhibition of power as a parliamentary leader, alternately agaressive and contained and the committee and the masterial presentation of the cases on the floor. Mr. Shermau, a member of the committee recommending the bill, said he had not been aware of the fact stated by Mr. Cockreti, and intimated that he regarded it as fatal to the claim.

Mr. Marrill coincided in this opinion, and Mr. Lapham explained that the proposed payment was not on account of a salary as feuntor, but for personal expenses. Upon his auggestion, the bill was laid aside without action.

The Issue of This Weine ex National Republicas commenced on Thursday, January 5, 1822. It is a handsome doubte sheet of eight pages and fity-six columns.

Mr. Miller turned the tables on the opposition in the Mackey case with great effect when he exploded their charge that investigation had been denied. Mr. Reed, with provoking sang froid, interposed his point of order upon Mr. Randall's filibustering motion, and demonstrated with mathematical precision the constitutional power of the majority to complete the organization of the House and to control the rules of proceeding. The Speaker, with rare courage, met the assaults of the almost desperate minority, and brought to a successful termination the most memorable struggle in parliamentary history. This is all good as far as it goes. The House has been as heroic in what it has done as it would be pusillanimous if it were now to halt. The work done proves that the majority knows its duty and has the power to perform it! To pause now would be without excuse, and would be worse than not to have moved at all. The infamous methods adopted by the Bourbon minority to overbear and swindle the majority out of representation in half matter of doubt or discussion. They are gross and palpable. They will not be repeated in the districts which the House has righted. Now for the others. What reason can our party give if it does not wholly purge the House of intruders? What would prevent the return of the same crew to the next Congress if they and their followers found their crimes

If he retains his seat, no Bourbon outrage will be refrained from in his district this year. If he is sent back with his antagonist, Colonel Buchanan, it will be notice that an election must precede the seating of a member. Buchanan was a confederate, and one who came into the Republican ranks soon after the war was over. He is a true man and a gentleman. The testimony in the case forbids the idea of allowing it to rest. We shall print portions of it from day to day, and shall not cease to urge the expulsion of the inter-

The Republicans of the Lower House will, it is to be hoped, pass the appropriations asked for by the Mississippi River Commission, and incorporated in the river and harbor bill. The proviso as to not using any of the funds solely for reclamation of submerged lands is well, but the additional restriction excludes the use of money for high national purposes such as protection of the mail service, and protecting lives and homes of a million and a half of people. Mr. Lapham called up the resolution reported from the Committee on Privileges and Elections to pay the administratrix of John C. Underwood $5,000 in full compensation for his time and expense in prosecuting his claim to a seat in the Senate from Virginia.

Mr. Cockrell and Mr. Saulsbury, in opposition to the resolution, disputed the assertion in the committee's report that Underwood was regularly elected, and the vilidity of the Alexandria legislature, which existed temporarily under the reconstruction haw, was discussed.

Mr. Sanistury denied that, with the single exception of its ratification of the thirteenth amendment, any set of that legislature was ever rating-nized by the government. The recognition in that instance was a matter of necessity. He could find no instillection for the claim, and it was not top privilege of the Senate to act as an almoner in this case.

WINNING HIS WAY.

Among the bright young men from the West who have come prominently to the front in the present Congress is Colonel William H. Calkins, who now represents the thirteenth Indiana district. Before the war he was a poor young man, with limited opportunities for education, and had a widowed mother and several younger children depending upon him for support. When the re-bellion was crushed he returned home, studied Those poor, dear Bourbon editors who are so distressed at what they call a disgraceful coalition between the Republicans and Greenbackers in Congress are howling for Plaisted, the nomine of the disgraceful coalition between the Democrats and Greenbackers in Maine.

The strangest anomaly in politics is seen in the fact that gentlemen who in business relations are the soul of honor and in social life are above repreach will stand up in Congress, day after day, and arduously struggle to crown palpable, notorious, and felonious frauds with final triumphs.

A Washington correspondent of the New York Sen says that the remedy for the awful doings of the Republicans in Congress, in pitching defeated candidates from the seats given them in that body by Southern usurping governors, is to be found at the ballot-box. Right ngain. But this time it won't be so difficult for musing the propriety of making him the next Re-publican candidate for governor of Indiana.— Chicago Evening Journal.

Bids for furnishing supplies to the Bureau of Engraving and Printing were opened at that bureau yesterday at noon. There were seventeen classes, yesterday at noon. There were seventien classes, comprising dry colors, oils, chemicals, inks, textiles, paper, binders' materials, grocers' sundries, engravers' supplies, hardware, castings, fittings, lumber, coal and wood, &c. The items of principal interest to local dealers were those of Cumberland coal and ice. The lowest bidder on coal was Jonn Miller, at $2.70 per ton, and for the ice was the Great Falls Ice Company, at 45 cents per 100 pounds. There were in all 123 bids received, which it will take some time to arrange and compare. This work has been intrusted to a committee of three gentlemen, and the result will be made known to all interested by kiter.

Bids were opened in the War Department yesterday for wrought from elevator fronts for the north wing of the State, War, and Navy Departments building. The bidders were Schneider & Son, of Washington, $3.400; Poulson & Eger, Brooklyn, $2,500; J. B. & J. M. The District Appropriation Rill.
Yesterday in the Senate Mr. Plumb, in charge of the District of Columbia appropriation bill, stated that the changes made by the Senate committee were few and unimportant. They had made a reduction of $44,000, leaving the total as reported reduction of $44,000, leaving the total as reported to the Senate, $2,307,707. Less than a quorum was present while the bill was being considered. The only feature eliciting protracted discussion was as to the salary of the Engineer Commissioner of the District. This was fixed by the House at $5,000 and by the Sonate committee at the pay and allowances of his rank in the Army or $1,00 less. After remarks by Mears. Cockrell, Sherman, Beck and Congor, the committee amendment prevailed—26 to 19. The committee amendment changing the law so as to provide that one of the District Commissioners may be a non-resident was pending at the adjournment, when the bill went over without action.
